It's time to get Creative, Tasmania

MONA, rock music and stand-up comedy are just some of the exciting topics covered in classes at the new Creative Tasmania Summer School program to be held during January.

Creative Tasmania is a collaboration between the creative arts schools at UTAS: the Tasmanian School of Art, the School of Visual and Performing Arts and the Conservatorium of Music.

The teaching staff is sourced from among Tasmania's own experienced practising artists and invited visiting practitioners from the mainland.

Creative Tasmania Summer School workshops will offer participants the opportunity to explore a wide range of artistic disciplines including visual art, craft and design, theatre and music.

Each workshop is open to the general public and students from colleges or who are currently enrolled at the University of Tasmania. Anyone over the age of 16 can apply.

In a large number of the workshops participants are able to choose whether they would like to be assessed for credit towards current or future University studies, or alternatively participate as a one-off non-assessment.

The program has been developed from the successful Tasmania Creative Arts Summer School program that has run at the University's Inveresk Campus over the past five years.

Workshops on offer at Launceston's Inveresk Precinct and Hobart's Waterfront Precinct include:

- Confronting MONA
- Stand-up Comedy
- Introduction to Installation Art
- The Artist Book
- Introduction to Alternative Jewellery Design
- Contemporary Dance
- Rock Revolution
- Approaches to Photography
- Vessel Formation and Surface Design
- Digital Imaging Foundations
