Graduate art shows opening tonight in north and south

The University of Tasmania's Tasmanian College of the Arts (TCotA) is preparing to open two of its annual visual arts Grad Show tonight in Hobart and Launceston.

The exhibitions showcase the extraordinary artistic talents of the College's final year graduating students.

All studios will be represented from graphic design, to sculpture, to drawing, printmaking, video, photography and painting. Work exhibited will be from all levels of study: undergraduate, Honours and postgraduate coursework.

Mr John Vella, TCotA Acting Head of School, said the graduate exhibitions were an excellent chance for the public to view the students' work.

"This is a unique opportunity to celebrate their achievements and visit the fantastic Centre for the Arts and Inveresk sites."
