

MEDIA RELEASE

NEWS FROM THE UNIVERSITY OF TASMANIA

DATE: WEDNESDAY 30 JANUARY 2013

ATTENTION: Chiefs of Staff, News Directors

Nursing Application Day at UTAS tomorrow

Anyone interested in studying Nursing is invited to attend UTAS' Nursing Application Day in Launceston tomorrow (Thursday 31 January 2013).

This free event will provide visitors with everything they need to know about studying Nursing at UTAS. Visitors will have the chance to:

- Meet staff and students from the UTAS School of Nursing and Midwifery
- Find out about the Bachelor of Nursing, including time commitments and costs
- Understand the structure of the course, which includes a combination of on-campus study and practical placements in industry
- Learn about the support services available
- Visit the state-of-the-art simulation centre and take part in lab activities such as blood pressure testing and skeletal assembly
- Gain an understanding of the many career opportunities available locally, interstate and overseas

Staff will be available on the day to assist with applications – in most cases applications will be assessed on the day, with offers made to eligible students.

Anyone interested in studying Nursing this year but unable to attend the Application Day can contact UTAS to arrange a separate meeting time.

Event information:

Who: Members of the public and staff and students from the UTAS School of Nursing and Midwifery.

What: UTAS Nursing Application Day

When: 11am until 2pm AND 4:30pm until 7:30pm, Thursday 31 January, 2013

Where: Building J and Simulation Centre, Newnham UTAS Campus

Campus maps available here:

<http://www.utas.edu.au/campuses/campus-maps>

Information Released by:

The UTAS Communications and Media Office

Phone: (03) 6226 2691 or 0447 537 375

Email: Media.Office@utas.edu.au