Looking Back is the Way Forward

The changing face of Burnie's city scape is reflected in the latest exhibition at the University of Tasmania's Atrium Gallery at the Cradle Coast Campus. Burnie based artist Suzanne Hennessy provides a snapshot of the metamorphosis of the city over the past five years in her colourful watercolour paintings.

The new collection, Metamorphose: Burnie, is a pictorial tour of some of the recent changes that are shaping perceptions of Burnie into the future.

University of Tasmania Cradle Coast Campus Exhibition Coordinator, Joanna Gair, suggested that the exhibition is a time capsule of local history.

"Suzanne's vibrant, detailed, colourful reportage provides an insight into the changing face of Burnie, the removal of one icon and the emergence of another."
