NEWS FROM THE UNIVERSITY OF TASMANIA

DATE: FRIDAY 3 MAY 2011

ATTENTION: Chiefs of Staff, News Directors

A new Tasmanian economy

A forum will be held at the University of Tasmania next week in the lead up to the State Budget to examine priorities and options for Tasmania's future.

"It's the ideal time to explore questions about what is Tasmania's future and whether we are in fact the nation's beggars or whether we can be real choosers?" Director of the Inglis Clark Centre Dr Natasha Cica said.

"Tasmania may well be standing at a tipping point - whether we thrive, or slide, depends on being smart and strategic about our future."

Join Dr Natasha Cica, Director of the Inglis Clark Centre for Civil Society, in discussion with the following speakers:

Saul Eslake - Productivity Growth Program Director, Grattan Institute
Hon Ruth Forrest MLC – Independent Member for Murchison
Margaret Reynolds – State Manager, National Disability Services
Dr Richard Eccleston – UTAS School of Government
Peter Poulet – State Architect

The Denison Debate will be held on Monday 6 June 2011 at the Stanley Burbury Theatre, University Centre, Churchill Avenue, Sandy Bay campus.

The event starts at 6pm and finishes at 7:30.

Entry to the debate is free and all are welcome to attend.

The Denison Debate is a series of events hosted by the Inglis Clark Centre for Civil Society at UTAS. The series aims to provide a forum for more open and vibrant Tasmanian conversations about ideas and values in our society.
